

I hate the saying 'life is not fair'
Like you have to accept all the shit
And then just move on

I won't just accept it
Because it was all unfair

Birth
A family forced to choose
To starve
Or
Abandon their child so
All had a chance to live

16
Every club at school
Every book in the library became sanctuary
Too afraid to go home

10
She said I was and would never be wanted
I wonder about the day I'll finally want myself

13
On the highway
She pulled me out of the car
Drove off
Left me on the side of road
Abandoned
Unwanted
Unlovable

11 15 18
Told her I wanted to die
She handed me the knife
I made the cut
She blamed me for ruining her life
Adopting me was the worst decision of her life

Too many times
She made me bleed and
Forced me to clean the mess

15
Finally
Finally told my school counselor
She told HER.
Then never...NEVER
Once asked why I was missing
One, two, three, four days of school
Punished for telling lies

20
She never Ever
Said 'I'm sorry'
Not once
Yet I say it everyday
I apologize because I simply exist

21
There are so many people
Who love
Who care
But every night
Sleep is beaten away
Away by her words of hate
'life is unfair'

It's true
None of this is fair
It will never be